A New, Wonderful and Useful Invention,

CALLED A

Tidal Power,

Has been discovered at the expense of many years study and experiment which will revolutionize the method of obtaining power for driving machinery of all kinds

Although this power is obtained from the rise and fall of the tides, machinery can be driven at a long distance from the seat of power with this invention by means of a wire rope which is now in common use for similar purposes

This Machinery is so simple and occupies so little room that it can be erected on any wharf and the expense of the Machinery very trifling compared to other power

It will run for years without any expense and without any person to tend it the power being continuously obtained night and day if desired a common scow being sufficient to drive light machinery

This power can easily and effectually be applied to ring Fog Bells, saving the Government thousands of dollars yearly needing no attention after being once set in motion

The principle by which a continuous motion of the Main Shaft is insured in a given direction can also be applied to Sewing Machines and prevent the possibility of the machine changing to the troublesome backward motion which breaks the thread, by using this process on Sewing Machines, both hands of the operator are entirely at liberty to hold the work Children can run them without trouble

In manufacturing Sewing Machines for the future the Balance Wheels can be entirely dispensed with, consequently making a great saving in the manufacturing This principle can be applied to every machine at a trifling cost.

The application of this principle can also be made to Foot Lathes, the motion of the foot being hardly perceptible and more speed attained than with the crank. It also saves the motion of the body when propelling the machine, and favors the ankle.

The "Close Treadle" for Sewing Machines, constructed to embody the above named principle and capable of being applied to sewing machines of any size kind or shape are now being manufactured, and in a few days may be seen at the clothing store of E C Smart on Exchange Street in operation attached to a sewing machine from the manufactory of B P Howe, successor to the late A B Howe, the originator of the "Improved Howe Sewing Machine"

A license to manufacture and sell ten thousand of the "Close Treadle" having been granted to A E Kimball, agent for the "Improved Howe Sewing Machine," he will immediately introduce them to this market through his agents, who will apply them to machines of any manufacture at prices so low that every person owning a Sewing Machine will be sure to have one.

It is a useful and valuable invention, and is worthy of the investigation of all scientific men.

Letters Patent were issued for this Invention, dated December 27th, 1870, obtained through the agency of Fred H. Coombs of this City.

OF IOWA,

have now built and equipped, in first class manner, about

180 MILES OF RAILROAD,

which will complete their entire line, with the exception of laying the track on twenty five miles, which is already graded They will thus open from north to south, and by making a slight detour at one point, they will give

THE FIRST THROUGH LINE ACROSS THE STATE

DIRECT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN ST LOUIS AND ST PAUL

This line of Railroad will have very special advantages for both local and through business, besides such superior railroad connections as will secure to it a large portion of the carrying trade of the great Northwest The

First Mortgage

7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds

which are issued upon this road, are limited in amount to $16 000 per mile (while many roads issue from $20 000 to $40 000), and are offered at 90 and accrued interest in currency About two millions and a half of these bonds have already been disposed of leaving but a small balance unsold which are being rapidly taken

The most experienced financiers agree that First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount upon a finished railroad, which is well located, for business are one of the very safest forms of investment

Parties desiring to secure a first class security based upon a railroad practically done and in the hands of leading capitalists who have a large pecuniary and business interest in its success will do well to apply at the office of the Company or any of its advertised agents for a pamphlet and map showing the characteristics of the enterprise

Holders of Government Bonds may exchange them for Central Iowas at a large present profit besides a handsome increase of interest for a long term of years Parties making such exchange will receive for each $1 000 Bond a $1 000 Central Iowa Bond and the following difference in cash (less the accrued interest in currency upon the latter bond) and in annual interest, this calculation being based upon market prices of February 1st 1871

		Difference in Exchange	Increased annual interest upon Investment

THE McGARRAHAN CLAIM

The following is an abstract of the report of the majority of the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives, to whom was referred the memorial of McGarrahan asking that a bill be passed providing that, on the payment of $1 25 per acre the title of a tract of land known as the Panoche Grande Ranch, in California, be fully confirmed to him The report was presented by Hon John A Peters on February 2d and on the 20th inst the House referred the whole matter back to the President, giving McGarrahan, a new opportunity to push his claims

The foundation for the claim is an alleged Mexican record, dated March 13 1844 of a registration by Gomez of three square leagues of land In March, 1851, Congress passed an act appointing three Land Commissioners to settle private land claims in the State of California In February 1853, Gomez presented to this commission a petition for the confirmation of a claim for four square leagues stating that the grant had been made by the Mexican government He filed no documents in evidence of the title saying that the papers had been destroyed during the occupation of Monterey by the United States forces This commission rejected the claim Gomez then appealed to the United States District Court While the appeal was pending Ord, attorney for Gomez, was appointed United States attorney in the district where the case was to be tried, but, notwithstanding, continued to act as counsel for Gomez In payment he received a deed of half the land in question In June, 1857, Ord procured a reversal of the decision of the Land Commissioners without trial or examination The decree, however was not filed till the 8th of February McGarrahan purchased the interest of Gomez December 22, 1857, but by law of Congress no patent for a Mexican land grant could issue until final confirmation and this could be obtained either by decision of the United States Supreme Court, or on a nomination by the Attorney General In 1858 the Hon E M Stanton filed a motion to set aside the decree in the Gomez case on the ground of fraud This motion was never disposed of The report then exposes the conspiracy by which Ord and others fraudulently and surreptitiously procured to be entered on the files of the United States Supreme Court a record of an appeal never made by the court, by virtue of which he could obtain a patent McGarrahan then applied to the clerk of the court for a transcript of the record This he received, but it contained no record of the appeal It did, however, contain a record of the motion made by Stanton This transcript McGarrahan returned with the request to send him another showing that an appeal had been allowed, and also to omit Stanton's motion to make it, regardless of expense This the deputy clerk did without the knowledge of the court McGarrahan's friends took the latest transcript to Attorney Black and asked him to allow the decree of the United States District Court to be confirmed, but, suspecting fraud, he refused to do it. Thereupon, McGarrahan went into the Supreme Court, which in accordance with one of its rules, dismissed the appeal and confirmed the decree of the court below Judge Ogier of the California District Court, discovered the imposition and the Attorney General moved the Supreme Court to rescind its former action The Supreme Court, on the information of facts, set aside its order of confirmation The commissioners decided in favor of the United States Judge Ogier died, and was succeeded by Judge Haight McGarrahan then procured the setting aside of Judge Ogier's vacating order, and granted an appeal from his decision to the Supreme Court On September 22 1862, Attorney General Bates directed an appeal to be taken to the Supreme Court and called for the record, and the clerk of the court refused to make a transcript of the case or permit one to be made After more than a year of unsuccessful endeavors, the Attorney General finally obtained a transcript through the agency of the District Attorney Then McGarrahan moved to dismiss the appeal on the ground that more than five years had elapsed since the decree was pronounced. This motion was overruled, and the Supreme Court then rejected the claim. The committee express the opinion that this decision is consistent with all others on the Mexican land grants, and that if it had never been made, their own decision on the merits of the case must have been adverse to the claimant. During all the time the claimant was keeping the transcript from the Attorney General, he was making extraordinary exertions to get a patent from the Interior Department, hoping to get it before the case again got on the docket of the courts This attempt nearly succeeded, the Secretary of the Interior not knowing what was going on in the courts A new Secretary of the Interior Usher, allowed a patent to be issued, with the provision that it should be only prima facie evidence of the location of the lands granted, but not conclusive evidence of the title Nine days after the ruling Attorney General Bates notified the Secretary that the case would be renewed in the Supreme Court. Thereupon the Secretary ordered the Commissioner of the General Land Office to suspend execution of the patent. In regard to the claim of the petitioner that President Lincoln recognized his alleged rights, quotation is made from a letter of Daniel E Sickles, dated January 22, 1867, as one of the parties interested in the grant to the effect that, in the spring of 1864, the President ordered a patent to be issued, and that it was engrossed and signed, but was not delivered, although promised on a day named. The committee think the time referred to must be in the spring of 1863, and add that it is evident that the Executive Department in all its branches was constantly beset and importuned in behalf of the owners of the claim. The committee also say there is no evidence of knowledge in the Executive Department of any pending proceedings in court. All the Attorney Generals having anything to do with this claim earnestly denounced it as fraudulent, and as soon as the heads of the Executive Departments learned of the proceedings they ceased action with respect to it. On the question whether a patent was ever issued, the committee report there is an unexecuted patent in the Land Office, never signed by anybody, and it is intimated by the claimant that this has been tampered with by the removal of the last page and the substituting of a new one, but the committee find no evidence of this whatever. After a review of the testimony, the committee conclude that there can be no claim that this or any patent to this party was ever delivered. From this it follows, that if there had been a delivery the matter would not be a subject for Congressional legislation, but for decision by the courts; if it was not believed the land belongs to the United States, and in either case the claim should therefore be denied. The [illegible] famous [illegible] endorsement, made by order of Secretary Cox, is approved by the committee as a proper precautionary measure. Petitioner claims that he has shown that steps were taken by Gomez in 1844 to obtain a patent, and that these steps would constitute a [illegible] the language of the treaty [illegible] unwarrantable, support[illegible] by the language of the [illegible] Congress, and [illegible] legal precedents. The committee also doubt if Gomez ever obtained any grant from the Mexican Government, being unable to find any record of it. The books and records alleged to have been destroyed during the occupation of Monterey have been found, but no copy of the alleged Gomez grant or any reference to it, is recorded therein The committee further say that there has been no possession of the land of a character to give any ground of claim to it in the widest latitude of interpretation of the law and discuss the general question of the acquirement of the claim by possession at considerable length Another point considered relates to the true location of the alleged grant to Gomez In 1862 Congress passed a law providing that private surveys of land under alleged grants in California should be taken as evidence of the location of the grants Under this law a survey was made by E H Dyer United States deputy surveyor who testifies that he did not use his own judgment as to the location of the grant but located it under the directions of McGarrahan Sherman Day the present surveyor General of California says that he surveyed the New Idria mine and country thereabout in 1866 and the Ranco de los Aguilar one of the boundaries of the alleged Gomez grant is distant twenty four miles on an air line from the mines and that a true survey of the Gomez claim would place it not less than fourteen miles from the New Idria mines that Dyer s survey is alleged to have been made in four days while the least time in which the work could possibly be done is two or three weeks Lawrence Upson the late Surveyor General of California says the boundaries of the alleged Gomez claims are at least sixteen miles from the mines Other surveyors give similar testimony The Gomez Grant was alleged to be an agricultural district If it is identical with the New Idria Company s land it is a mountainous tract fit only for mining

The committee say that McGarrahan is not alone interested in the claim but in a quicksilver mining company incorporated in the State of New York with a capital stock of ten million dollars that is located upon it The committee believe that all the United States Attorney Generals who have had anything to do with the claim have acted with fidelity and strict integrity The New Idria Company claim it does not belong to the committee to consider It is for a comparatively small area, and they are willing to take their chances for it before the Departments asking no favors of Congress In conclusion the committee find that there never was a completed grant to Gomez that his witnesses are not trustworthy that he was himself guilty of fraud and forgery that the controversy has been fairly decided on its merits before the highest tribunal in the land that it would be unwise in every view to reopen litigation that its effect would be to awaken and encourage numerous other defeated claimants of grants, that it would weaken the public faith in titles obtained under our treaty stipulations and that the land now claimed under this Gomez title was not covered by the alleged original grant The committee recommend the passage of the following resolution

"Resolved That William McGarrahan is not entitled to the relief prayed for in his petition and that the committee be discharged from the further consideration of the same

The New York Times publishes an account of the recent attack upon Messrs Dallas and Ring two English teachers in the Government College at Yeddo Japan, which states that of the circumstances of the attack are very little known beyond the mere fact itself

The two teachers had visited the foreign quarter of Yeddo on the afternoon of [illegible] at which place they dismissed their guards intending to return [illegible] attended to the college during the evening They started about 7½ o'clock on foot accompanied by a young Japanese student in the college and a special pupil of Mr Dallas in fact an inmate of his house The distance they had to traverse is about ten miles in the most direct route but they chose another course through streets which are generally [illegible] lighted and thronged until a late hour

They heard rapid footsteps behind them and before they could turn Mr Dallas felt a sharp blow which nearly prostrated him which he did not at that moment know to be the cut of a sword As he was regaining his feet, Mr Ring cried out that he was wounded and that their only chance was to run In a few moments they gained a Japanese shop on the principal street where they were received with the utmost kindness the inmates closing their doors to prevent the entrance of intruders carefully staunching the wounds and sending messages to the college and in search of surgeons

By ten o clock on Thursday evening a number of Japanese doctors had arrived and had dressed the wounds with admirable skill In the morning the patients were removed to a tea house close at hand and taken in charge by the surgeon of the British Legation under whose care they have steadily improved until the present time In spite of every endeavor of the Japanese officials nothing has yet been elicited to fix the crime upon any individuals or to explain its possible motives but no government ever manifested a more determined purpose to arrive at the truth The prevailing opinion among the Japanese themselves is that the assailants were soldiers of the newly arrived regiments from Tosa, one of the southern provinces of Japan

At a meeting of the Foreign representatives held in Yokohama to consider what action should be taken in the case, a memorial was adopted calling on the Japanese government to disarm all subjects excepting officers of the highest rank The American Envoy proposed to modify the suggestion so that it should apply only to natives living at or visiting the open ports, but he was overruled

The Rev Leonard Woolsey Bacon of Baltimore (formerly of Williamsburgh) lately preached a sermon in defense of "The Little Church around the Corner," in which he took occasion to say something not altogether pleasing to rigid ears about the modern stage The Christian Advocate of that city reviewed the imperfect report of the sermon, putting the lash upon the preacher's back with energy Mr Bacon thereupon sends a card to The American, barbed with pleasant sarcasm and closing thus, "The editor of The Advocate claims a better personal acquaintance with the theater than I have, which I cheerfully concede. But when he adds the enticing suggestion that in order to know as much as he does, I should 'go incog, for a season to each of the theaters in the city,' I object If the editor has read my sermon before he reviewed it he would have seen that this 'going incog,' which is the favorite Evangelical way of attending theaters, is just that sneaking and demoralizing thing in the church which I have stripped bare and scourged. If I go to a theatre I shall go in my own clothes, and take a seat where the editor of The Advocate, or his disciples, who may be there incog, may have no difficulty in seeing me."

JOHN H LYNDE, - - PROPRIETOR.

THURSDAY, FEB 23 1871.

A JOURNALISTIC DIOGENES

The Portland Press has again started with its lantern on a melancholy but fruitless tour [illegible] State in search of an honest man. Out[illegible] of its sanctum the atmosphere reeks with the vapors of corruption, and it sends forth a wail of sorrow that there is none, no not one, to share the loneliness of its virtuous isolation. Wherever it casts the gleam of its [illegible] the surrounding moral darkness it discovers the incantations of evil, as [illegible] the caldron of crime friends and neighbors, contemporaries and legislators, mingle in the orgies, chanting the double, double toil and trouble of that omnipresent wickedness which is constantly proclaiming itself through the sensitive thumbs of our searcher after truth. We have had no desire to interfere with the moral demonstrations of our contemporary and should not take the trouble to question its assumptions of self righteousness had not allusions been made to ourselves which would seem to be endorsed by our silence. We therefore propose [illegible] very modest manner our right [illegible] the frank expression of opinion without [illegible] insinuations which are as [illegible] as they are impertinent.

[illegible] recent remarks of the [illegible] Advertiser in which direct reference was made to this paper, the Press indulges in [illegible] which were evidently in[illegible] among the journals [illegible] relation to the "paper [illegible] has failed to meet its approba[illegible] intimation that mysterious efforts are [illegible] in some unmentioned quarters, [illegible] suppression of the evidence of the [illegible] Commission it alludes to [illegible] piously discourse upon [illegible] of gratifying a love of scandal, [illegible] asserting that no one is to blame [illegible] to mislead the people and [illegible] with an ocean of white [illegible] we resent the imputa[illegible] the Press that the columns [illegible] this journal are neither used for the white[illegible] or the blackening of individual [illegible]. Having exhausted the violence of [illegible] assaults upon [illegible] its political [illegible] our Portland neighbor as[illegible] attitude of aggression and hurls its javelins indiscriminately in a grand crusade against all who chance to hold [illegible] opinions evidently ambitious to [illegible] in its immaculate heroism hold [illegible] world at bay. He should have a [illegible] grip of the hilt who draws his blade against the world and though the will to rule [illegible] strength to the arm only giants should attempt to wield giant's weapons. We would [illegible] the Press that thunder does not make [illegible] and we are doubtful if the newspapers [illegible] this State will be frightened into line, even [illegible] the [illegible] manifestations of our powerful [illegible]temporary.

Our course with reference to the "paper [illegible] transactions has been as frank and, we think as commendable as that of our [illegible]. Having published in full the statement of the Commissioners we simultaneously laid before our readers the impressions received from its perusal. If our judgment was [illegible] the text was then to correct the error [illegible] we have not learned to regard our readers [illegible] dependent upon editorial in[illegible] of matters submitted to their in[illegible] and intelligence. We assumed, as we believe correctly, that the Commission started with every incentive to bring the responsi[illegible] for these irregularities home upon [illegible] than those whose complicity [illegible] only demonstrated and [illegible] the strongest case [illegible] had been able to [illegible] the integrity of honored [illegible] we regarded it as utterly [illegible] the aspersions which have [illegible] through the State based upon [illegible] hints and rumors. We [illegible] gratification that the result confirm[illegible] on the baselessness of those [illegible] that whatever guilt might rest [illegible] the official representatives [illegible] the State had not been proven guilty of [illegible] disgraceful practices. Our opinion [illegible] erroneous and the Press [illegible] different views, but [illegible] sympathy with its apparent idea [illegible] satisfied by fixing a [illegible] the State.

[illegible] were deductions [illegible] Commissioners' report and [illegible] speculations of the editor [illegible] from the results of his con[illegible] with those municipal others who [illegible] engaged in the questionable [illegible]. They are supposed to know [illegible] of the matter and our neighbor [illegible] judge better than we of the degree of [illegible] to be reposed in the statements of [illegible] implicated parties. The report certainly [illegible] from the assertion that the Adjutant General assured those parties of the [illegible] and legality of their operations [illegible] the direct action taken by that officer at [illegible] has prevented the legal recognition [illegible] these enlistments as entitled to reimburse[illegible] bounties. We have not however [illegible] the defence of any individual [illegible] finding nothing in the report rising to [illegible] dignity of an indictment. Death has [illegible] the voice of one whose character has [illegible] assailed and we have not noticed that [illegible] the Press has had the generosity to con[illegible] statements which it must have known [illegible] untrue. The improbability of the Gov[illegible] ignorance of the transactions of a [illegible] has been dilated upon by numer[illegible] journals, and we have yet seen no dispos[illegible] to do justice by stating the fact that neither intimacy nor relation began between the two until several years after the occurrences referred to. It seems impossible for some people to distinguish between justice and vengeance, and they are equally unable to appreciate the course of others who are uninfluenced by passion or prejudice.

As for the testimony, we presume that it has been substantially presented in the Commissioners report and we seriously doubted whether the publication of such a voluminous mass of documents would prove of sufficient public value to compensate the additional expense of preparing several thousand volumes, containing from four hundred to five hundred pages each, which it is probable that few would ever read and from which we cannot conceive that any one would receive the slightest practical benefit. If however, the Press wishes to enjoy the details in all their "linked sweetness, long drawn out" we have no desire to prevent its gratification, and we are quite sure that if it had been earnestly anxious to give those details to the public, it would have found no obstacles which could not be easily overcome by journalistic enterprise, in securing transcriptions for publication in its own columns. If the people wish to spend money for such an addition to the State literature, we certainly have no objection, as our sole intent was accomplished in raising the question of its advisability, and we presume it is to be printed in full.

We have been ready to receive all attainable information on this subject, and have given our readers all that we have secured, but having no inclination to stimulate excitement at the revival of a warmed-over scandal, we have treated the subject from what we deemed a judicious point of view, and in a manner which will be remembered with perhaps more satisfaction than the demonstrative sensationalism of some of our contemporaries. Our curiosity was excited by the important developments promised with such a flourish of trumpets by the Press, but after patiently perusing the lengthy comments which were spread over two editions, we were no wiser than before, and cannot say that we regarded the effort as in any sense an improvement upon the original report. If that paper claims the merit of superior candor upon this subject by reason of any information it has imparted, it has either greatly overestimated its services or we have most unintentionally failed in duly appreciating them.

It would seem that any doubt as to the existence of an extraordinary laxity of public sentiment at the time, should be partially dispelled by the confession of "gentlemen who were municipal officers," that they deliberately participated in the assignment of these credits, shielding themselves by the plea that some one else told them they would be justified in subscribing to false statements. The tainted atmosphere may not have penetrated the sanctum of our contemporary, but we doubt if some of the infectious currents that were sweeping over the land, did not circulate in its vicinity. The people of this nation were never subjected to such a moral strain as during the darker years of the rebellion and if the evil deeds of this time are to be brought up again for no other purpose than that of scandal and gossip, we do not care to assist in the resurrection. If we can be shown any public good to flow from the re-discussion of transactions notorious at the time and which have been repeatedly investigated without practical result, we will cheerfully aid in its accomplishment, as we do not see the promised benefit and the Press does not intimate wherein it lies we think that enough of money and time have already been wasted.

The Press is the first to suggest that medals may yet be authorized by the State to be distributed to the patriotic citizens who were engaged in the importation of paper soldiers, as a mark of esteem for their eminent public services. Such a distortion of propriety will never be based upon any defence of wrong published in these columns. But, if it shall be suggested to present a medal to the Press in token of the zeal it has displayed in endeavoring to fix a stain upon the reputation of the State, we will promise a liberal co-operation in the movement, and the thought strikes us at the moment, that a distinguished member of the Paper Credit Commission would doubtless be pleased to furnish an appropriate inscription.

REMARKABLE THUNDER STORM IN CALIFORNIA. A heavy rain prevailed in California on Monday night, and at 11 p m a terrific south easter burst on the city of San Francisco accompanied by rain, hail, thunder and lightning, doing much damage. Hitherto the inhabitants of California have been accustomed to faint flashes of lightning and low rumbles of thunder hardly recognizable, in intervals of years, the flashes Monday night were vivid and almost continuous, accompanied by tremendous peals of thunder and producing more consternation than a heavy earthquake. The storm commenced about midnight and lasted over an hour—The barometer fell lower than ever before known in that latitude. At the corner of New Montgomery and Minno streets a wall 12 feet high and 60 feet long was blown from the top of a three story house on a frame building adjoining it crushing the latter into the ruins beneath which were buried 15 to 20 persons. All got out safe, or not fatally injured, except Mrs L Leonard, wife of the watchman at the State Prison, her child 10 months old, a daughter 12 years old, and Mrs Slogan, all of whom were instantly killed and frightfully mangled. Several others were injured. Three alarms of fire during the storm aided to make the night the most remarkable ever experienced. There was more thunder and lightning in one hour than ever before in San Francisco since its settlement. The shipping in the harbor generally escaped without serious damage. The storm in the mountains was severe and telegraph lines were damaged in all directions.

The storm drove two vessels through the railroad wharf at Alameda, Cal, carrying away a hundred feet of the structure. The wind unroofed the planing mill in Oakland near the Railroad office, and Thomas Hunt's warehouses in Vallejo and railroad shed at San Rafael.

Gen J B Magruder, who died Saturday at the age of 60 years graduated at West Point and served with great credit in the Mexican war being brevetted Major and Lieutenant Colonel for gallant conduct. At the close of the Mexican war he did garrison duty at Fort McHenry, and was afterwards on frontier duty in Kansas and Texas. While in garrison in Washington, April 20 1861, he resigned and joined in the rebellion against the United States. He was at once appointed a Major General and served through the war.

The report that 800 mechanics will be discharged from the Erie Railway work-shops next Saturday, causes great excitement among the employes of that road.

It is reported that Frederick Combs, proprietor of a great fruit farm in Napa Valley, Cal, shot his wife and then shot himself, on Tuesday, in consequence of domestic difficulties. They are both dead.

The coal excitement in New York continues, and dealers are working to produce a panic price. The Pennsylvania Coal Co. is still selling its small stock at the November price, but they will sell only one ton to each family at a time.

The Birthday of GEORGE WASHINGTON was celebrated by the oldest inhabitants of the District of Columbia, by reading the "Farewell Address" and other exercises. The public Departments were closed and but little secular business was transacted.

Louis Bernard a French miser, who died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York, on Monday, bequeathed $100,000 to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The society has also received three other bequests amounting to $200,000, which with the $100,000 pledged by Henry Bergh, places the society on a firm basis.

The New York Colonization Society on Tuesday shipped for Liberia a large amount of goods and tools to found the "Arthington Manual Labor Institute," the principal object of which is the education of the young natives for missionary services. Rev. Mr. Herndon, formerly a slave, and missionary, accompanied the expedition.

On Wednesday morning seven seamen on the steamship Ismalia, at Pier 10, North River, New York, were suffocated by burning charcoal in a close room. Five were dead and the others were sent to the hospital, with little hopes of recovery. They were all natives of Scotland.

Washington's birth day was generally observed as a holiday in New York, business was generally suspended, the veterans of the war of 1812 and the 11th regiment paraded, and most of the other regiments held reunions in the evening.

DR SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

Having for the last thirty five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is for the patient to avoid taking cold, and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville. It is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times, but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite, and when this is the case they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature, and it is not necessary to say that where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds he is certain to die shortly. Therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat or cough, but for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869 I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully, and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills, for the climate is more likely to produce billious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States it does not prevail so largely, still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small pox, &c! but they are not, they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know that where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry. I have hopes of such. With a relish for food and a gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is and ever has been to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and diarrhoea ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat watermelons, pears, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you only good.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office, No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A. M., to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist. J. H. SCHENCK, M. D., No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia.

Exuberant Health

Is a blessing vouchsafed to few. Even those who have been favored by nature with strong constitutions and vigorous frames are apt to neglect the precautions necessary to preserve these precious endowments. Indeed, as a rule the more healthy and robust a man is, the more liberties he is inclined to take with his own physique. It is some consolation to the naturally weak and feeble to know that they can be so invigorated and built up by a proper use of the means which science has placed at their disposal, as to have a much better chance of long life, and exemptions from disease and pain, than the most athletic of their fellows who are foolish enough to suppose themselves invulnerable and act accordingly.

It is not too much to say that more than half the people of the civilized world need an occasional tonic, to enable them to support the strain upon their bodies and minds which the fast life of this restless age occasions. In fact a pure, wholesome, unexciting tonic is the grand desideratum of the busy millions, and they have the article in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It is a standard medicine, i e it imparts permanent strength to weak systems and invigorates delicate constitutions. Its reputation and its sales have steadily increased. Competitive preparations have been introduced ad libitum, and as far as the public is concerned ad nauseam, in the hope of rivaling it, but they have all either perished in the attempt, or been left far in the rear. It has been the great medical success of the present century, and it is quite certain, that no proprietary medicine in this country is as widely known or as generally used.

Ten lightning presses, running incessantly (Sundays excepted) the whole year through, barely supply the demand for the Illustrated Almanac, in which the nature and uses of the preparation are set forth the circulation now being over eight millions a year.

Soldiers of the War of 1812,

ATTENTION!

Congress has passed a law giving a Pension of $8 per month to the officers, soldiers and Seamen of the war of 1812 who served sixty days or over, and to the widows of such as have died, and who were married previous to 1815, thus doing justice to this brave and meritorious band of patriots. I have all the rolls and records of this service, and they are not to be found at any other place in this State, to my knowledge.

I will give every soldier the benefit of these records to establish his claim to a pension, and I will assist him in the prompt and speedy prosecution of his claim. If the soldiers' discharge is lost, these records are invaluable.

It is generally well known, the Maine Central Railroad terminates at Danville Junction, and from thence to Portland the Road is a part of the Grand Trunk Railway. For the use of this piece of Road, (some 28 miles) the Maine Central pays to the Grand Trunk a rental, which, for some years past, has amounted to some $70,000 per annum. The Maine Central having leased the Portland & Kennebec R R and thus joined that entire Road with its own under one management, has decided to obviate the necessity of using the Grand Trunk road from Danville to Portland by building an Extension of its own road from Danville Junction to CUMBERLAND using the Portland and Kennebec R R from thence to Portland.

This Extension has already been surveyed and more than three fourths of the requisite grading and all the stone work and masonry completed and the road will be ready for the iron, (already contracted for) in the Spring and prepared for business soon afterward. To aid in accomplishing this work the Maine Central Railroad has issued its Bonds to the amount of $ 00 000 payable in thirty years from October 1st, 1870.

These Bonds are secured by a First and only Mortgage upon the Extension and the Entire line of the Maine Central with all its property (which would readily sell for three times the amount of its Bonded debt,) is holden for the payment of the Interest and Principal of these Bonds.

The security is

UNQUESTIONABLE.

A large part of this issue has already been taken in this and other States and the remainder is offered for sale at a price which makes them one of the most desirable investments in the market.

The Bonds bear Interest at the rate of six per cent per annum and both

Principal and Interest payable

IN GOLD.

Free from Government Tax

Coupons Payable in Boston, April 1st and October 1st in each Year

When it is considered that by building this Extension the Road can have a complete line of its own through to Portland at an outlay of some $30 000 (gold) per year for interest instead of paying some $70 000 per year rental to another corporation the commendable economy of the undertaking will be apparent.

The local business alone on the Extension will be profitable, besides the advantage to the Road of there being connected by the same gauge with all the great Railroads of the Country.

Bonds issued in denominations of $500 and $1000 each.

The highest market price will be allowed for Government State and City Bonds. Bonds of other Railroads and Corporations and all marketable securities in exchange for above.

STATEMENT OF EX-PROVOST MARSHAL GENERAL FRY

[From our special correspondent]

The following message and accompanying documents were transmitted to the Legislature by the Governor on Wednesday

STATE OF MAINE,
Executive Department,
Augusta, Feb 21, 1871

To the Senate and House of Representatives

I have the honor to transmit herewith for such action as you may deem proper, a letter from Honorable Wm W Belknap, Secretary of War with a communication from Lt Colonel James B Fry, U S Army, formerly Provost Marshal General of the United States

WAR DEPARTMENT
Washington City,
February 18 1871

To the Governor of the State of Maine [illegible]

SIR—I have the honor herewith to transmit as requested by the writer, a communication from Lieut. Col James B. Fry, U S A formerly Provost Marshal General of the United States, defending himself from certain imputations upon his administration of the affairs of the Provost Marshal General's Department contained in the report of the Commissioners appointed by or under the authority of the Legislature of the State of Maine to inquire into the enlistment frauds committed in that State during the late war

Very respectfully
Your obedient servant
WM W BELKNAP
Secretary of War

LOUISVILLE, Ky [illegible] 13 1871

Brigadier-General E D TOWNSEND,
Adjutant General U S A
Washington D C

GENERAL—A few weeks since I received from some anonymous friend in Maine a copy of the daily Portland Advertiser containing an extract of a report made by certain Commissioners acting under the authority of the Maine Legislature, in the investigation of enlistment frauds during the late war

The tone of the report seems to throw some responsibility for these frauds on me, in my capacity as Provost Marshal General of the United States I immediately wrote to His Excellency the Governor of Maine for a copy of the report, and have been assured by him that it should be furnished as soon as printed

This copy has not yet been received but I am in receipt of the BANGOR DAILY WHIG containing the full text of the report, and I desire without further delay to make such comments thereon as seem to be imperatively demanded by the honor of the service and my self respect

The report fills me with profound surprise I did not know that such an investigation was being prosecuted and I had not the remotest hint that the doings of my office were under review and criticism It is certainly very singular circumstance that an investigation of this character professing to deal with the transactions of my office and throwing aspersions on my official character, should have been conducted without calling on me for any information or giving me the slightest opportunity to be heard I was perhaps better prepared than any other person to give official information bearing upon the subject under investigation Yet for reasons best known to themselves the Commissioners did not see fit to call upon me My only resource therefore, is to make this communication to my proper military superiors asking that it be laid before the Governor of Maine and requesting that it be made as public and a matter of as permanent record as the report to which it relates

The Commissioners charge me with transcending the requirements of law in 1864 from which frauds resulted Their report says

"We shall not however have fully discharged our duty unless we indicate in some general way the conclusions we have irresistibly arrived at as to the persons upon whom the responsibility for these unauthorized credits rest

When the Provost Marshal General in his letter of July 9 1864 appointing Governor Cony and Major Gardiner to the Naval Commission instructed them that, in determining the credits the State of Maine and the different sub divisions of it were entitled to the Secretary thinks it will be fair to assume that the State in which naval enlistments have been made is entitled to credit for the enlistments unless it should appear by more direct evidence that the credits belong elsewhere — he seems to us to have transcended the requirements of law The terms and intent of the act were to throw the burden of proving residence upon the towns the effect of the instruction was to assume the residence to be at the place of enlistment, and throw the burden of disproving it upon the town making an adverse claim

The instruction from the same officer to Governor Cony and Major Littler of Dec 10 1864 authorizing the credit of the 251 Naval credits is of the same force and refers to the foregoing instruction The mere private endorsement upon the Marine Corps list in the hands of Messrs Pike and Colby authorizing credit of the names it contained to districts and sub-districts of Maine and the similar instructions for a like credit of about 200 names on a list held by G P Cochrane to districts and sub districts in the State of —— does not seem to us to have had the slightest pretext of law or propriety to vindicate it

Whether the instructions of July 9 and December 10, 1864, above mentioned, be right or wrong I am not responsible for them—they were Mr Stanton's, not mine

This is plain from their terms, for I say not that I think but that the Secretary thinks &c and this is confirmed by my final report (page 70) dated March 17, 1866, where I say, referring to this same matter the Secretary of War decides, &c Under the law, my orders and decisions were made in my own name and not in that of the Secretary as will appear by reference to them

When I as his subordinate officer, communicated his decisions as in this case, they were his, in fact and not mine But the terms of the instructions and that of my final report though sufficient proof, are not the only nor the strongest proof on this point I have the original of my recommendation to the Secretary of War, for carrying out this law The whole tenor of these instructions as framed by me was to throw restrictions around these credits, and the 4th article of them was in the following terms

IV Their residence must be proved to the satisfaction of the Secretary of War When the residence is established as required by the law the names of the men credited will be placed on the enrollment lists of the places to which the credits are allowed It shall be the duty of the Acting Assistant Adjutant General of the State to see to this"

It appears that in the opinion of the Commissioners, this recommendation of mine would have fulfilled the requirements of the law and prevented frauds But Mr Stanton rejected it and substituted the paragraph which the Commissioners think transcended the law and produced evil results I am happy to have the Commissioners on my side of this question, but I must leave them to contest the correctness and wisdom of Mr Stanton's construction of the law The issue is one for jurists to decide, and let it rest between the Commissioners on the one side, and the deceased War Minister, Attorney General, and Justice of the United States Supreme Court, on the other I know the latter to have been an able jurist, of the former I know nothing.

Besides the charge I have just explained the Commissioners say that by mere private endorsement credit was allowed for a marine corps list in the hands of Pike and Colby to districts and sub-districts of Maine, and that by a similar endorsement a like credit was allowed upon a list in the hands of G P Cochrane to districts and sub districts in the State of ——

The Commissioners say there does not seem to them to have been the slightest "pretext of law or propriety" to vindicate the allowance of these two lots of credits.

Let us see first as to the "law" The act of July 4, 1864, sec 8, governing on this subject, said the men therein described should be credited "upon satisfactory proof of their residence made" (not to the Commissioners, but) "to the Secretary of War"

As the Commissioners do not know or even pretend to know that satisfactory proof was not made "to the Secretary of War," their charge must be regarded as the mere assertion of a negative. Granting for the sake of the argument, that with all that wisdom after the fact, acquired by the light of six years, the Commissioners have ascertained that the truth regarding some or all of these credits, would not now justify their allowance, and still it will not follow that they ought not to have been allowed at that time, on proof which was then satisfactory to the Secretary of War.

It is sufficient on this point of "propriety" to say that the action in these cases cannot be properly passed upon without a full knowledge of the circumstances under which it was taken The Commissioners lacked that knowledge and could not have acquired it even if they had tried to do so. So much for the general features of such credits as were allowed.

Now in relation specially to the so-called "Marine Corps list" and the "list held by G. P. Cochrane"—which the Commissioners say were credited by "mere private endorsement." I made no mere private endorsement on papers for the allowance of credits, and if I had done so, my subordinates would not have been justified in regarding them. The "Marine Corps list" came to the War Department with an official letter, dated Oct. 7, 1864, from a proper officer, to give the "facts in relation to the localities "set opposite their names"— The list was forwarded to Major Littler with directions to credit "provided they have not been heretofore credited"

Of the Cochrane list I know nothing, having no recollection of any such list or transaction as that set forth, and I am informed that the records of my office furnished no information on the subject. I never knowingly endorsed a credit in blank, and if there is a genuine signature of mine on the list described by the Commissioners as the Cochrane list it was obtained through some misrepresentation, misunderstanding or fraud, but until I see the list and can determine as to the genuineness of it and my signature, I shall certainly think there is a forgery in it. The Commissioners it seems have seen none of these mere private endorsements, but assert their existence on "verbal testimony" They say "we have only verbal testimony of the special orders to credit the names borne on the Marine Corps list offered by Pike and Colby and Cochrane." They do not say in terms that these private endorsements were mine but I infer from the context that they mean it

But in determining the responsibility for credits and their consequences—which the Commissioners place entirely on my shoulders—there are some other points to be borne in mind The State and town authorities sought and accepted these credits and knowingly paid bounties for them The General Government could neither exact nor regulate these payments All it could do in that regard it did do, that is, set the example of paying bounties for and to actual recruits only — It is a significant fact that there were few or no frauds in the matter of government bounties It was clearly the duty of the towns to see that their bounties were honorably and properly disbursed It was my duty to see that the men were obtained for the service.— How well the former was performed is indicated by the report of these Commissioners how well the latter, may be inferred from the fact that the army was languishing for recruits when I entered on the duties of Provost Marshal General in 1863, and that notwithstanding all its casualties it contained more than a million of men when the war closed in 1865

It looks like very sharp practice, to say the least of it, for the authorities in Maine to have sought and accepted paper credits and to have openly and voluntarily paid large sums of money to scoundrels for their part in preparing them, and then long after the war when the people are smarting under the pecuniary consequences of their folly, for another class of authorities to come out and condemn the General Government as culpable and as the cause of the burdens which they inflicted upon themselves

Though I had no power to regulate local bounties or forestall frauds in them I was when the war closed actively engaged in the prosecution of persons perpetrating these frauds, some thirty or forty of the worst cases were under arrest by my Bureau, about twenty of which had been regularly tried by U S authority convicted and sentenced to fine and imprisonment One of these, G M Delaney a witness before these commissioners was found guilty, among other things of defrauding recruits of money voted by the towns and cities of Maine, and was sentenced to ten years imprisonment and a fine of $45 000

I at Washington was comparatively withdrawn from these fraudulent practices carried on in the States under the very eyes of the State and town officers and as I understand the law within their jurisdiction Yet I recall no arrests or punishments for these crimes in the State of Maine or elsewhere except those by my Bureau The disagreeable and unpopular duty of drafting men into the ranks of the army after volunteering had become inadequate was put upon me without agency or solicitation on my part and at the sacrifice of more desirable employment in other fields of service I know that I discharged it faithfully industriously honestly—to the satisfaction of my superior officers—and with the cordial concurrence, so far as I know of Gov Coburn and Gov Cony—the two Executives of Maine with whom I had official intercourse

Yet when this duty was ended by the termination of the war my services were by many measured rather by the extent of their at[illegible] to individuals than by their importance to the nation I have not complained of this, but have looked patiently and confidently to time for justice and I shall continue so to look notwithstanding the wrong done me so unexpectedly by these Commissioners in Maine And I shall even hope for justice from them, when this explanation reaches them—an explanation that never would have been necessary had they given me an opportunity to appear before them This I should have gladly done not merely in defense of my official course, but to aid them in detecting and if possible punishing the perpetrators of these frauds in their State which I labored assiduously to prevent

JAMESON GUARDS' PRIZE DRILL. The long anticipated exhibition and competitive drill by the Jameson Guards, Captain Daniel White, came off with great eclat in Norombega Hall last evening, and was witnessed by a large and appreciative audience Adjutant General B B Murry, Jr , Cols Elias Milliken and J Manchester Haynes, and Dr E A Thompson, Members of the Governor's staff, and Col F M Drew, Secretary of State, came over from Augusta to witness the drill and were received at the depot by an officer of the Guards, on the arrival of the evening train and taken to the Bangor House in carriages. Later in the evening, they were escorted to the hall by the Guards, headed by the Bangor Cornet Band. A number of gentlemen connected with other military organizations in the State were also present, and soon after 8 o'clock the drill commenced—the committee to award prizes being the officers above mentioned, together with Gens. C W Roberts and George Varney of this city The Guards in their new uniform and equipments presented a fine appearance and conducted themselves throughout in a true soldierly manner.

The exhibition commenced with a Company drill, followed by a squad drill, silent drill, bayonet exercises, and silent drill by two privates engaged with bayonets. Col. Milliken then inspected the Company, after which came the competitive drill by thirteen members, for the gold and silver medal, presented respectively by Wm. H. Pegg Esq. of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Capt. Charles B. Sanford of this city.

This drill, like the preceding evolutions, called forth the most enthusiastic applause, and when at the close, Col. Haynes in a brief and telling [illegible], gave the Guards the credit of being the best drilled Company in the State, announced that the gold medal was awarded to Corporal James M. Davis, and the silver medal to Sergeant E. L. Goldthwaite, the audience and soldiers vied in cheering the successful competitors, until the hall rang again. The Committee stated that it was with great difficulty that they made the award, as all the men showed great proficiency, and they praised in high terms the general appearance of the Company

At the conclusion of the drill, the guests and officers of the Guards were invited to the Bangor House by Gen. White, where a capital supper was provided and partaken of, and the party separated at a late hour, expressing themselves "highly gratified" with the entertainment.

MAINE CENTRAL RAILROAD.

STOCKHOLDERS' ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Maine Central Railroad was held in the Town Hall, Waterville, Wednesday forenoon.

At 11 o'clock the meeting was called to order by the President of the Company, Hon R D Rice, and the Secretary, Hon J H Drummond read the call

The reports of the Directors and the Treasurer were accepted

THE DIRECTORS' REPORT

treated of the disadvantages under which the road labored while using the broad gauge, and in having no independent position in Portland—from Danville Junction to Portland, a distance of twenty seven miles, freight and passengers being transported over the Grand Trunk road, and the accommodations in Portland such only as could be conceded by that company Owing to these facts, a change was deemed necessary for the interests of the road and the Directors conferred with the Directors of the Portland and Kennebec Railroad Company, and after long and patient examination and careful consideration, they came to a conclusion, the result of which has been already approved by the Stockholders

In the negotiations between the two roads they met as equals and consulted as such and finally agreed to unite their roads as being substantially of equal value. With this in view they equalized their interest paying securities, which gave the M C Stockholders an interest paying scrip dividend on their stock, and also equalized their stock, and agreed to assume all the liabilities of both roads and thus become in substance one institution

After having agreed to do thus, they asked permission of the Legislature to merge their separate corporative organizations into one under a common name and to yield up the exclusive rights now possessed under their charters and subject themselves to the immediate control of the Legislature But this proposition was vehemently opposed and they therefore determined to reorganize under their charters and existing laws, which has been done in strict conformity with law

The bonds maturing during the year have been promptly provided for and all now outstanding will be paid on presentation

The result of Consolidation or united action has given largely increased facilities to our people Prior to the new arrangement it required four days to transport freight between Bangor and Boston Now that result is accomplished without transhipment in less than twenty four hours and at reduced expense to the shipper

A morning and evening train between Augusta and Bangor has been put in operation to the great benefit of the business men of Bangor and the convenience of the people

Other improvements are being pressed forward for the development of our material interests as well as for the convenience of our business men Among those in contemplation is a night train between Bangor and Boston, which will be accomplished early in the coming Spring provided the railroads west of Portland can so far harmonize their interests as to act in concurrence

Immediately upon the completion of the arrangement with the Portland and Kennebec Company and the reorganization of this Co active measures were taken for the construction of the piece of road to connect the Maine Central with the Portland and Kennebec on the West This line lies between Danville Junction and Cumberland station and is 18¾ miles in length and the work is now well advanced The land damages have all been adjusted and paid The iron and sleepers have been purchased and the fencing principally provided for It is expected to have this road in operation next July, and that it will be in every respect a first class road

As soon as this link shall have been completed the gauge of that portion of the road between Waterville and Danville Junction will be narrowed which will give an unbroken line from Bangor and Skowhegan to Portland by either the Central or Kennebec route

The funds for the construction of this line have been raised from bonds issued by the Company at six per cent payable principal and interest in gold, and secured by a mortgage on the extension which sell readily in the market at satisfactory rates and as fast as the money is required for the prosecution of the work

The report briefly states the circumstances already known to our readers of the refusal of the Maine Central to lease the Belfast and Moosehead Lake Railroad, on account of defects which were substantial, going directly to vital requirements in the contract. The Directors say

"Propositions have been made for an amicable and permanent arrangement of the matters between the Companies at an early day and we now advise that the most liberal terms be conceded to them for the operation of their road by us, or as a connecting road with us that shall be consistent with the interests of this Company

From the European & North American Railway when completed, a large increase of business is anticipated, especially if the gauge be narrowed in both passenger and freight departments

The Knox and Lincoln road will also probably be completed during the approaching summer This will also be an important feeder to our line

The relations of the Maine Central with the Grand Trunk and other roads to the west of us are reported of the most friendly character

THE LAST RAIL—GREAT CELEBRATION IN IOWA The people of the East have learned much during the past year of the progress being made in building the Central Railroad of Iowa, and have shown their belief in its future importance and prosperity by purchasing largely of the First Mortgage 7 per cent Gold Bonds of the Company But the people along the line of the road have watched its advance with even greater interest because to them it was their best friend in opening a thorough and direct line to St Louis on the south and St Paul on the north When, therefore, the last connecting rail was to be laid and the last spike driven on the 4th of February, there was a great gathering of the leading citizens from scores of cities and towns along the line between the north and south state lines We find in the western papers full reports of the opening ceremonies President C C Gilman who has pushed the work of construction with such vigor that 140 miles have been built during nine months drove the spike and responded to the calls of the assembled crowds by a model speech of a dozen lines which so well tells the story of what the road has already done in cheapening two of the leading necessaries of western life, that we quote it entire

We have done all that we promised to do You can now go from St Louis to St Paul over the Central Railroad of Iowa, and in thirty days we will have a thorough train from St Louis to St Paul without change of cars There, (pointing to the north) stands a train loaded with lumber from Minneapolis bound for Oscaloosa. The result is that lumber can be purchased at Oscaloosa $4 00 per M cheaper than before There, (pointing to the south) is a train loaded with coal from Oscaloosa to Minneapolis The result is that coal can be bought at Mason City for $4 50 per ton

The Eldora, Iowa, Tribune says of the road

As a Railroad, it is second to none in the State in public importance, business prospects, and beneficial results, and is built through the garden of Iowa. It is managed, controlled, and operated by honorable men

The citizens upon the line of the road may well congratulate each other upon the success of the great enterprise, for on their energy and pluck, has depended in a great measure, the starting of this project that has given to the State of Iowa one of its greatest commercial highways"

The sale at G. W Stevens', No 40 Main-st., opens Friday forenoon, and will prove a great attraction to all our fair readers who appreciate an opportunity to supply themselves at the lowest figures Everything offered will be sold 2t

The Central Iowa will be as important for that State and as profitable to its stockholders as the Illinois Central has proved to the Prairie State.

Little of human sorrow the buds and the robins knew

Sick in an alien household the poor French neutral lay
Into her lonesome garret fell the light of the April day

On the loose-laid floor of hemlock on oaken ribs of roof

The bed quilt's faded patchwork the teacups on the stand
The wheel with flaxen tangle as it dropped from her sick hand!
